Tomorrow Atlanta will be the exposition and the exposition will be Atlanta.

The great city of the south will envelop its own enterprise—sweep down on it and scatter every man, woman and child over the vast area of the grounds.

The poor as well as the well-to-do will go. Benevolent citizens have commenced the purchase of tickets for them. One citizen who will not make his name public announced to Mr. Sam Inman yesterday that he wanted 1,000 tickets of his way into the exhibition. The tickets were sold to him.

Atlanta's day will be a day of history. In the records of the state there will be recorded no day more significant or demonstrative. It means the celebration of Atlanta, the formal jubilation over the success of the exposition. Not a citizen of Atlanta will be away from the grounds.

The city proper will be like a graveyard.

It will be as still as the Sabbath. There check for $250. These tickets will be distributed among their customers. Chief Felder has already delivered all tickets to the firm. This is an example that might well be followed.

The Atlanta Dental college yesterday purchased 200 tickets for use by the attaches of that school.

Many other large sales of tickets were made during the day and the outlook is that the exposition grounds will be simply packed with humanity.

It is wonderful the unanimity with which the merchants and business men of Atlanta have entered into the celebration of the day. They will close as if it were Sunday.

Not a business house will be left open. It was stated last night that there was a movement among the barbers to close their places on that day.

All the business houses are sending in orders for tickets for their employees.

Manager Land, of the Kimball, will supply those employees of the Kimball who can be spared with tickets for the day. The other hotels of the city will do the same.

All the big wholesale houses have purchased tickets for their employees.

Washington, October 29.—(Special.)—The impression prevails in official and diplomatic circles that the reply of Lord Salisbury to Mr. Olney will be different from what has been indicated by the semi-official utterances of the London papers. It is quite possible that the British foreign office did not feel sure at first that Mr.

Olney meant all that was said in the note.

There is a disposition in Great Britain to consider the act of the administration of the United States during that period when the issues of a presidential campaign are being joined as purely buncombe for home consumption.

It is well understood in England that this administration would be greatly benefited if it could awake a new popular issue before the campaign of 1896, and Lord Salisbury may have been disposed to regard the present move in that light. If so, he has been thoroughly undeceived and brought to a realization of the fact that the attitude of the Olney letter is a rejection of the bar that yesterday.

to the camp.

The two men got to quarrelling and Doyle drew his pistol and shot his fellow rough rider through the body. Emmet soon died. Doyle ran off.

The city and county police were summoned; dogs were sent for and it was said that they would be on Doyle's tracks be-

Both men are said to be from New England. One is said to be a native of Maine and the other was from New Hamp-

Doyle is a man about thirty-five years old. He weighs 135 pounds. He is five feet seven inches high. He is shabbily dressed in dark clothes. He has a brown

Philadelphia, October 29.—The second day of the Holmes trial did not attract nearly so great a crowd this morning as yesterday, as the public had learned they would be disappointed. Throughout all last night, in the loneliness of his cell in the county prison, Holmes worked steadily preparing his case. He filled sheet after sheet of foolscap and the watchers outside his cell drew wonder when he would seek some rest. It was only as the first rays of the sun began to find its way through the narrow slit that does duty for windows in the cells of the county prison that Holmes threw himself on his cot. He slept but an hour and then was up again and once more began busy writing until told it was time to start for court.

Promptly at 10 o'clock the jury filed into the box. A moment afterwards Holmes entered. Despite his long and sleepless night he looked fresh and bright, and while waiting for the district attorney to come in he chatted with the court officers. In compliance with Holmes's request the dock was much nearer the bar than yesterday. The

NEW WATER MAIN

Work of Constructing It Will Begin This Morning.

CONTRACT HAS BEEN CLOSED

Mayor King Signs the Ordinance Giving $50,000 for the Work.

THE WORK WILL BE DONE RAPIDLY

The Pipe Will Be Shipped from Anniston, Ala., in a Very Short While. Route of the Main.

Atlanta is to have a new water main leading from the Hemphill station into the city.

Work will be commenced on the new pipe this morning and within the next thirty days Atlanta will have two lines of supply from the waterworks into the heart of the city.

The contract for the pipe has already been made and the order for the pipe will leave by mail this morning for Anniston, where the pipe is being made or has already been made and from which point some of it will be shipped this morning.

But by the time the letter containing the order for the pipe leaves Atlanta a force of men will be at work on the ground laying the deep trench in which the pipe is to be sunk and the force of hands will be under the immediate direction of Mr. Will Rapp, of the waterworks department, with City Engineer Clayton supervising the work. The laying of the new main was assured yesterday when Mayor King approved the paper which passed upon the council at the meeting last Monday appropriating $50,000 to the work. Immediately after Mayor King had signed the paper to the clerk with his signature attached to it President Hillier, of the water board, was notified. President Hillier informed City Engineer Clayton of the completion of the authority to lay and lay the pipe and requested him to make a survey of the best route. It did not take long for the survey to be made and the best route for the pipe into the city. More than one route was run, but the one along Hemphill avenue was found most feasible and for nine hundred feet along that avenue the new pipe will be laid. It will parallel the line now down and will be laid upon a foundation that will be solidly and perfectly built, a foundation that cannot well give way.

The pipe will be of wrought iron, carrying all of the improved elements with its combination, and along Hemphill avenue will be laid with an especial care to prevent breaks like those which have taken place with the pipe now down. For the nine hundred feet on Hemphill avenue the base for the rest of the pipe will, as has been said, be made as solid as masonry and improved work can produce. It will be so constructed that there will be a minimum chance for a give away of any kind in it and those who will be in charge of it are now certain that it can be laid so that there will be no possible chance for a break within anything like the most reasonable limits.

Route of the Pipe.

After taking in nine hundred feet of Hemphill avenue the pipe will diverge to the south, almost at right angles, and will run down Curran street three thousand feet to Marietta street. Curran street is an old one and is solid and hard, and when the bottom of the ditch for the resting place of the pipe is reached the pipe will be on a sound, solid foundation, a foundation that will hardly give way for a break in years and years to come. On its way down Curran street the pipe will have a spur leading off to the big Emmet street pipe, where a connection will be made which will give the city two inflows before the big main will be completed.

Reaching Marietta street on Curran the big pipe will travel along Marietta street to North avenue, where it will connect with the big mains at that point, where water will be distributed throughout the city for fire and other purposes.

From the station, where the pipe will start, to the big mains at North avenue in Marietta street, where the main will empty into the big distributing pipes, there will be 7,500 feet of ditching from five to thirty feet deep, into which the same number of feet of pipe will be sunk. With that the pipe will be increased by the number of feet it takes to reach the Emmet street main. The big pipes will reach mains penetrating every section of the city the way they will be run and Atlanta could not well be safer from a water famine any way it could be fixed than it will be when the new line shall have been completed.

Chairman Hillier Talks.

"The ordinance passed the general council at the meeting last Monday one week ago," said President Hillier of the water board yesterday, "and we had nothing to do then but to wait for the board of aldermen to concur in it. The board did concur at the meeting on the Thursday following, I believe it was, or at one of the adjourned meetings held during the week, and yesterday Mayor King made the paper perfect by attaching his signature to it. That left but one thing for us to do and that was to let the contract and get to work. We felt sure that the paper would be perfected as the time came for action; that we anticipated the action of the general council and had practically closed a contract with the Anniston works for the pipe. They have been notified that the papers were perfected and the formal

order for the pipe will leave this morning and some of the material will be here within the next two or three days.

"As you know Engineer Clayton has already surveyed the line and this morning Mr. Will Rapp, of the waterworks department, will head a large force of hands who will begin ditching for the pipe. The work will be pushed right along by the best men in the city and will be carefully watched by those who are in authority. It will take something like a month, possibly a little more, to complete the big pipe into Marietta street at North avenue, but I think we will have it done within the month. Since Captain Clayton has looked over the Hemphill avenue line he has become satisfied that it is the best line that could be selected. The pipe will be about twenty feet from the line now down and will be a thirty-inch main."

The amount appropriated for the work is $50,000, and since Mr. Inman, chairman of the finance committee, has promised the council that the money would be found the water board is willing to go along with the work.

The opening of the ditch this morning will give employment to a large number of men now in the city who are seeking work, but the big end of the work will be done by men who have been engaged in the same line before and who know how to lay big water mains.

CONVICTS AT "WILD WEST."

Buffalo Bill Gives the Men in Stripes a Treat.

Buffalo Bill's show gave two performances yesterday, one at 2:30 in the afternoon, and the other at 8 o'clock last night. The crowds that have witnessed the Wild West show have been large. Yesterday at each performance vast audiences were present. A very large number of ladies were among them.

At last night's performance the county convicts who graded the grounds upon which the show is given were present. They sat at the extreme end and witnessed the riding, lassoing, etc., with great delight.

MUSICAL MEXICANS.

The "La Paloma" Band Captures Crowds at the Exposition.

Regarded in their national uniforms, with their spurs and sabers buckled on and red plumes tossing from high military caps, the musical Mexicans, making up the First Artillery band, enlisted in the service of the Mexican government, reached Atlanta yesterday.

They came under the leadership of Captain Ricardo Pacheco, who has been in the service of the Mexican army eighteen years, and who was notified by the secretary of war, at the special order of President Diaz, to make the trip to Atlanta.

Two concerts were given yesterday. The first in the morning in the south plaza band stand, and in the afternoon in the government terrace stand. At 5 o'clock, accompanied by Senor Gonzalez, the band was directed to the Constitution building, where a complimentary concert was given. Thousands gathered there.

"This is to show," said Mr. Gonzalez, "that Mexico appreciates what the Constitution has done for her and for the exposition."

This band is the first musical organization of Mexico. All of the members are well-known musicians and have been enlisted for some years in the Mexican army. The band is stationed in the City of Mexico with a complement of 500 men. It performs every Sunday for one hour on the Alameda, at which time all of the aristocracy gather in social converse.

This is the first time that a military organization, musical or otherwise, has been ordered out of the country for an occasion of this kind. It shows the interest felt here in Atlanta for the Mexican people and the slow to appreciate the scope of the exposition. It was some time before the idea dawned upon the people there that this was a greater enterprise than they had thought. Mexico woke up, Commissioner Gonzalez kept the wires warm. He telegraphed for a more elaborate display. The government kept itself informed and he asked for what was wanted. The exhibit was slow in coming, but in its character it compensates fully for all loss of time.

The Mexican band is a part of this exhibit. President Diaz instructed his secretary of war to order out the band on the 24th, in order that it might reach here Atlanta day. Captain Pacheco was given only one day's notice. He gave his band orders to be ready next day, made hasty preparations and left at once for Atlanta.

The order of the secretary of war had allowed the members of the band to advance of one month's salary. Other necessary arrangements were made. The trip to Atlanta was pleasant and several times on the way Captain Pacheco had his men to play.

Upon their arrival yesterday they were met by commissioner Gonzalez, who took them in charge for the day. At 12 o'clock they were conducted to the south plaza stand. Here gathered an immense crowd, who listened eagerly. The official photographer was called and a photo taken of the band in full regalia.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock, on the opposite side of the grounds, they gave a "concerto." The band followed by the people went wild; they called for it again. It was played with an interpretation never heard in this country before. After the concert the band followed by the crowd, made its way to the Constitution building. Here a complimentary concert was tendered.

That will remain in Atlanta only a week. Today two concerts will be given—one at 11 and the other at 2 o'clock. Captain Pacheco says that the interest in Mexico is great over the Atlanta exposition. He expects many to visit the fair from his country next month.

A Wonderful Cotton Stalk.

Mr. J. Kell, who lives at 13 Brotherton street, has quite a lot of long staple cotton growing on his farm near the exposition grounds. He has seventy stalks with long limbs which average thirteen feet in height. The cotton was raised from seed brought him by his brother from South America. It was planted on poor soil and was shaded, otherwise he believes the stalks would have been much taller. The cotton is good in color and was not hurt by the frost.

Fire Yesterday Morning.

The fire department was called to box No. 42 early yesterday morning. The flames in a poolroom on Decatur street blazed up and caused considerable damage among the negroes who happened to be in the room at that time. The damage was very slight. No. 4 company had the fire out before the other companies arrived.

5 CENTS TO THE GATE

Peachtree Street Line To Be Extended to Exposition Entrance,

AND A FARE OF 5C CHARGED

Cars Will Run on Peachtree Every Two Minutes.

WILL RETURN ON PIEDMONT AVENUE

Important Change Announced Yesterday by the Consolidated—Work on the Extension Commenced.

Tomorrow, Atlanta day, the Consolidated cars from every part of the city will carry passengers to the exposition for 5 cents.

The Peachtree car line is to be extended to the main entrance of the exposition and a two-minute schedule operated on that line on and after Friday.

A fare of 5 cents will be charged on these cars.

The new arrangement is one that will be hailed with delight by the exposition visitors. Those who will go to the exposition from the center of the city can do so for 5 cents, as that is the fare that will be charged on every car starting from the center of the city.

This schedule of rates does not affect the cross town service, on which the 10 cent fare will continue to be charged as heretofore. The cross town cars will enter the terminals at the exposition, as now, and a fare of 10 cents will be charged.

Any car on the Peachtree line will put a passenger at the main entrance to the exposition grounds for 5 cents.

Last night a squad of track hands went to work to make a link between the Wilson avenue line and the Piedmont avenue tracks. By the completion of that link there will be a complete track out Peachtree street to Wilson avenue, down Wilson avenue to the main entrance to the exposition and along in front of the main entrance to the line on Piedmont avenue where the line will connect with the line running to Piedmont avenue and into the terminal.

This will give a complete circuit for the cars from the center of the city.

On any car going to the grounds out Peachtree street the passenger can ride for a nickel and after leaving the grounds at the main entrance and coming into the city ride on the return can be made for the same sum.

The new schedule of prices on that line will go into effect on Atlanta day and yet it will be a departure from the price which have prevailed in that way since the grounds have opened for the exposition.

The cars on Wilson avenue have been stopped near the Alcazar hotel for a long time, and to that point any one of the north side of the city could ride for the nickel. But this morning the track has been completed so that it reached the main entrance of the grounds, and while the passenger out goes only a few steps further, the passenger who leaves the grounds that way and wishes to come to the city will find one of the cars making the circuit passing for him every two minutes.

The service on Peachtree for the accommodation of the patrons of the line will find a two minute schedule at their service and so will those who leave the grounds for the city by the same line.

The cars which enter and leave the terminal at that section of the grounds will maintain the same price which have been in use from the time of the opening of the exposition.

The change is one that will receive the hearty applause of the public.

FURNACE GOES IN BLAST.

The Tennessee Coal and Iron Company Blows in the Oxmoor Furnace.

Birmingham, Ala., October 29.—(Special.) One of the Oxmoor pig iron furnaces belonging to the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company after being cold for two years, went into blast yesterday. The furnace has been thoroughly overhauled and will have an output of about 200 tons per day. The same company is preparing another furnace at Ensley City, to go into blast and one will be blown out by President Nat Baxter, of the Tennessee, in an interview today said that through the pig iron market during the past few weeks was quiet and strong, a revival was about to be ushered in, as many inquiries were being made for the products during the months of August and September. The Tennessee company sold nearly 120,000 tons pig iron more than they manufactured in that time.

THAT SIDEWALK TALK.

Men in Front of the Ticket Scalpers' Offices Must Keep Quiet.

One of the greatest nuisances which the people of Atlanta and the visitors to the city have been subjected since the exposition opened is the incessant and constant noise of the ticket scalpers' offices. The noise is so loud that it is almost unbearable for anyone to stand in front of any of the ticket scalpers' offices. It provides that for any such work a fine shall be made for each offender. The ordinance provides that it shall be unlawful for the party and that a fine not exceeding $100 shall be imposed if found guilty. The ordinance was placed on its second reading and was adopted. It will go into effect as soon as the mayor places his signature to it approving the same.

HE IS NOW AT WORK.

Captain Amos Baker Has Been Made Solid in His New Place.

Captain Amos Baker is now fully installed as one of the license inspectors of Atlanta. When the position was created it was at the request of Mr. Bell, chairman of the tax committee of the general council, and Captain Baker was put to work subject to the approval of the action of the council. At the last meeting of the council the action of Mr. Bell was sustained and Captain Baker is now at work as a full-fledged license inspector with instructions to give that part of his time which is not consumed in running down delinquent license people to the clerk of the city council.

Farmers Will Not Sell Seed.

Albany, Ga., October 29.—(Special.)—The mill of this section are finding considerable difficulty in securing cotton seed to operate on, very few of the farmers being willing to sell at the price offered by the mills. The result is the mills are not running on time, and the seed is being kept at home for fertilizing purposes.

Editors from Three States Busy Taking in the Fair.

ON A JAUNT TO LOOKOUT

All of the Editors Are Pleased with the Exposition and Tell Their People About It.

A party of fifteen of the Missouri Press Association and twelve of the Illinois Press Association left for Chattanooga, Tenn., for the purpose of spending a day on Lookout mountain and to visit the historical points around the city.

The remainder of the two associations will remain in the city until after Atlanta day. A large party of the visiting press visited Grant's Park and the battlefields in the vicinity of the park. In the party was R. J. Robertson, president of the Missouri Press Association, who was in the battle of Atlanta. He said yesterday, speaking about his trip over the battlefields, that he remembered the old hill and fort to the left of the park as it were yesterday.

"It looks a good deal steeper to me now than it did then," said Mr. Robertson, "for you see we went up it a great deal faster than I did today."

"You see that came back down there," Mr. Robertson continued, pointing to the thick growth of briars and cane, "we went through that brush like a rabbit when the dogs are after him. And to tell the truth I don't think a fellow in the crowd got scratched to amount to anything."

Last night a large party of the editors visited the Toccoa and other attractions in the city.

A party of twenty-five from the state of Missouri arrived at the Alcazar last night. They will remain in the city the rest of the week. They are the trailers of the press association from that state and will run with the association while here.

Between seventy-five and one hundred "travelers" arrived yesterday. They have no headquarters and are scattered over the city. The party will be in the city for the rest of the week. They are the trailers of the press association from that state and will run with the association while here.

What

You want of a medicine is that it shall do you good—purify and enrich your blood, throw off that tired feeling, and give you health, strength, courage and ambition.

Hood's

Sarsaparilla is the only true blood purifier prominently in the public eye today, and it meets these requirements perfectly. This is proved by the testimony of thousands of people. Hood's

Sarsaparilla

Builds up the nerves by feeding them on pure blood, creates an appetite by toning the digestive organs, overcomes that tired feeling by giving vitality to the blood, and gives sweet refreshing sleep. You may realize that Hood's Sarsaparilla this by giving it a fair trial. Insist upon Hood's Pills and only Hood's. $1; six for $5.

Does

9 p. m. to 10 p. m.—Innes's band in auditorium.

It was an off day.

There were no special features. But the crowd was phenomenal. Chief Feltner's report last night showed it to be the third largest day since the opening of the exposition. Today will be larger by half and tomorrow Atlanta will be lost in the exposition.

The crowd in the main yesterday was made up of school children, college students and those interested in educational affairs. The rural representatives are perceptibly on the increase. The farmer was a conspicuous feature in the crowds yesterday. Arkansas was represented by a large delegation. The press association of that state and those who came to participate today in the exercises of Arkansas day saw the fair. Many of the employees of the Plant system still remained. The Missouri editors were still on hand and a remnant of the New York press gang still sauntered about, wondering at the magnitude of the exposition. The Georgia people are beginning to come. Macon, Savannah, Americus, Albany, Thomasville, Valdosta and Waycross were all represented yesterday by large delegations.

These were the people who made up the big crowd yesterday. It was a interesting day, in spite of the fact that there were no special features except the educational congress.

The Lunch Fiend Abroad.
The free lunch fiend is abroad. He holds mighty sway at the exposition grounds. He lives not upon the fruit of his own labor, but upon the fruit shipped from Arkansas, California or some other state of similar enterprise. He knows a thing or two about the exposition, this man of free lunch fame. He scorns the idea of paying for a dinner with exposition prices for extras. He laughs at the thought of putting down a dime for a sandwich. The very mention of meals and money is a good joke. There is more in his pate than is dreamed of in the philosophy of the ordinary mortal. He tastes and tastes until he discovers a dainty dish acceptable to his palate. Then he comes and tastes again. In five minutes he can give you a good menu. He serves it in courses. It is dished out by the trimmest of sweet-faced girls. He gives you the smiles and glances of these bright eyed girls gratis. In the meantime this free feeder is listening to lectures upon cooking and the properties of food. There is nothing unknown in the line of eatables to this exposition epicurean. He smacks his lips in keen enjoyment of these dainty delicacies and lives on the fatness of the land.

The agricultural hall is the Mecca for this specimen. To those who have visited the exposition frequently it cannot but be noticed that this building is by far the most popular about noon. Here the crowds begin to concentrate. They crowd in the aisles. They jostle over each other in their eagerness to get a gratuitous bite. They have learned in some way that they can get a full course dinner and they are quick to take advantage of the occasion.

A lunch fiend came to the agricultural building yesterday.

He was a middle aged man of ecclesiastical countenance, rather suggestive of the professional confidence man. He had a soft, suave manner and a glossy tie. He talked volubly with an accent both southern and western.

He walked in the main entrance with a pompous stride, took a near cut to a booth overhung with red draping, upon which the different kinds of soups were served. There was a woman with a tureen in hand who smiled when he walked up.

"Ah, good morning, miss. Thought I'd take a taste of your soups. I hear them complimented quite highly." The pen-

"Yes, boss, here's one un em right hot off de griddle."

He dropped a pickle stand and helped himself abundantly.

He found a place where there is a concoction made of wheat that takes the place of coffee.

This was a delicious drink and the man called for two cups. It was something novel. By way of decision he picked a stand where silver cake is made from crystallized eggs, where pure calves' foot jelly is made from gelatine, where pudding is pure calves' foot, where pudding is made from canned stuff.

He secured a sample of tobacco, inveigled the man at the counter by his smooth talk into giving him a cigar, which he pocketed for future use. Before he left he had been presented with a card which gave him the liberty of calling for a sample of pure Kentucky whiskey whenever he wished it. On his way out he admired the apples from Arkansas so much that he was forced to introduce himself to Colonel Vincenelli, who insisted upon giving him one of the largest specimens and accompanied him with a lecture upon the pomological prospects of Arkansas.

"These grow wild out in our state," said the commissioner. "There is a class of people who subsist upon them all the year. Cheap living, don't you think?"

By this time the appetite of the free luncher was fully satisfied. He strolled to the plaza, lit his cigar and listened to the Mexican band.

This is the man that can be found in the agricultural building every day at noon. Sometimes he carries with him his wife and his daughter and his sisters and his cousins and his aunts.

But he is always there regularly at noon. He laughs when other people speak of paying for meals.

The school children of the south have captured the exposition. There are five thousand of them in Atlanta. They come from every state in the south; from Alabama, from Tennessee, from Louisiana and all other states adjacent.

There was a varied assortment of badges among the schools yesterday. Green badges, red badges, yellow badges, and of every other color flying gaily in the fall breeze. Yesterday all of the schools of Tennessee gave holiday, or rather suspended for two days, to allow the children to visit the fair. The Peabody Normal college came en masse. A special train brought to Atlanta the students of that institution. From other parts of that state were large delegations.

The children were divided off into squads and teachers placed in charge. Most of them carried note books in which they jotted down the principal points of interest and those things which attracted their attention. The government building was invariably the first building visited. Here yesterday the children were vastly in the majority. About the Smithsonian institution they were massed. Professors were pointing out and discussing with the students valuable specimens in different branches. The geological collection was of great interest to them. Everywhere the teachers and professors were explaining and lecturing. It was a vast school room. All of the departments were taken in a turn.

The mineral and forestry building was equally as interesting from the scientific standpoint. The woods and the minerals formed subjects for lengthy comment from the teachers who were determined to set their scholars straight on every point. The children were learning something valuable. In the meantime some of the scholars were casting wistful glances at the Midway. The educational exhibits were also of great interest to the normal students. The exhibits of Yale, of Harvard, of the Chicago public schools were all visited.

Today will bring another large gathering of school children. The Middle Georgia Military and Agricultural college from Milledgeville will be here with four hundred strong, and other institutions from south and middle Georgia will be here.

Will a Cuban Come?
There is a good deal of discussion just now among those interested in the Cuban cause as to the probability of the appearance in Atlanta on November 6th of a Cuban patriot, fresh from the scenes of war.

It is known that upon the first decision of the exposition company to set aside a day for Cuba some of the most enthusiastic adherents to the cause addressed a letter to the board of the exposition informing them of the fact and advising that in some way a Cuban be sent to Atlanta on that day.

Since that time, however, the day for Cuba has been changed from November 6th to December 17th.

There are some who say that if this letter is not interpreted that a Cuban will be here on November 6th.

A Suggestion to Uncle Sam.
There is no feature at the fair that draws a greater crowd than the fish exhibit in the government building. The nature of the exhibit made it difficult to construct it to accommodate a crowd. The people press and jostle and collide and push and cuss, some of them, in their eagerness to pass through and get a glimpse at the different species of the finny tribe. Many are prevented from doing so at all.

A release-headed editor from Arkansas made a suggestion yesterday.

"Why not," he said, "have an entrance at one end and the exit at the other end of the alcove. In this way all collision would be averted and the people could see in peace. I think that the crowd should be made to come in at one end and get out at the other. It would prevent much inconvenience."

This suggestion will probably be adopted by the government board.

The Farmers Coming.
Yesterday there was a notable increase in the rural representation at the fair. Before this the character of the fair has been decidedly urban and metropolitan. This has been due to the fact that the farmers of the south are gathering the cotton crop and putting it on market. In many sections now their crop is exhausted and the farmers with their pocket books filled are scurrying to Atlanta.

No Fireworks Tonight.
There will be no fireworks at the exposition tonight.

It has been decided by the management to give the great show tomorrow night.

Intermezzo, "Twilight Whispers," Laurendeau; "Maypole Dance," Tobane; Trombone solo, "Sea Shells," (concert waltz), Innes—Mr. F. N. Innes.

March, "Honor Roll," Berlioz.
Two intermezzos, (a) "Pagliacci," Leoncavallo; (b) "Ruse," Franke.
Prize fantasia, "Le Prophete," Wierrecht-Meyerbeer.
Two-step march, "Rob Roy," (new), De-Koven.

AT 8 O'CLOCK.
Overture, "William Tell," Rossini.
"Isolden's Liebestod," (Tristan and Isolde), Wagner.
Trombone solo, "For All Eternity," Mascheroni—Mr. F. N. Innes.
"Bonnie Scotland," (popular fantasia), Godfrey.
Concert galop, "In the Cotton Fields," Cassidy.

TWO PROMINENT ARKANSANS.
They Are Here To Attend the Arkansas Day Exercises.

Among the many Arkansas "travelers" who are in the city are two of the most prominent gentlemen of that state, Hon. John G. Fletcher and Colonel John W. Blackwood, of Little Rock.

Hon. John G. Fletcher will probably be the next governor of Arkansas. He is a strong silver man. Mr. Fletcher is a gentleman with a war record and was in the famous battle of Atlanta. He related to a number of his old friends, whom he found in the city, the incident of the first shell that fell into this city when the bombardment began. Though he has not been here since 1864 he is familiar with all

"It is a part of the programme to also visit New Orleans, to be absent from Chicago about one week."

"The purpose of this letter is to say to you that I will be glad if you will present my compliments to President Collier and say to him that I appreciate fully the reception of the exposition. There are five thousand of them in Atlanta. They come from every state in the south; from Alabama, from Tennessee, from Louisiana and all other states adjacent."

Next week there will be a change in the programme. The fireworks will be seen every Wednesday and Saturday nights, and the Baden-Baden illuminations will be given every Tuesday and Thursday nights.

They Are Here To Attend the Arkansas Day Exercises.

Among the many Arkansas "travelers" who are in the city are two of the most prominent gentlemen of that state, Hon. John G. Fletcher and Colonel John W. Blackwood, of Little Rock.

Hon. John G. Fletcher will probably be the next governor of Arkansas. He is a strong silver man. Mr. Fletcher is a gentleman with a war record and was in the famous battle of Atlanta. He related to a number of his old friends, whom he found in the city, the incident of the first shell that fell into this city when the bombardment began. Though he has not been here since 1864 he is familiar with all Chicago's Loyalty.

Following is a communication received by Chief E. A. Felder. It explains itself.

"Mr. E. A. Felder, Chief of Department of Admissions and Concessions, Atlanta, Ga. My Dear Mr. Felder: You have doubtless been advised of the proposed visit of the directors and officers of the world's Columbian exposition, who are to leave here on the evening of November 10th, with the expectation of remaining in Atlanta Monday and Tuesday of that week."

"It is a part of the programme to also visit New Orleans, to be absent from Chicago about one week."

"The purpose of this letter is to say to you that I will be glad if you will present my compliments to President Collier and say to him that I appreciate fully the reception of the exposition. There are five thousand of them in Atlanta. They come from every state in the south; from Alabama, from Tennessee, from Louisiana and all other states adjacent."

There was a varied assortment of badges among the schools yesterday. Green badges, red badges, yellow badges, and of every other color flying gaily in the fall breeze. Yesterday all of the schools of Tennessee gave holiday, or rather suspended for two days, to allow the children to visit the fair. The Peabody Normal college came en masse. A special train brought to Atlanta the students of that institution. From other parts of that state were large delegations.

The children were divided off into squads and teachers placed in charge. Most of them carried note books in which they jotted down the principal points of interest and those things which attracted their attention. The government building was invariably the first building visited. Here yesterday the children were vastly in the majority. About the Smithsonian institution they were massed. Professors were pointing out and discussing with the students valuable specimens in different branches. The geological collection was of great interest to them. Everywhere the teachers and professors were explaining and lecturing. It was a vast school room. All of the departments were taken in a turn.

The mineral and forestry building was equally as interesting from the scientific standpoint. The woods and the minerals formed subjects for lengthy comment from the teachers who were determined to set their scholars straight on every point. The children were learning something valuable. In the meantime some of the scholars were casting wistful glances at the Midway. The educational exhibits were also of great interest to the normal students. The exhibits of Yale, of Harvard, of the Chicago public schools were all visited.

Today will bring another large gathering of school children. The Middle Georgia Military and Agricultural college from Milledgeville will be here with four hundred strong, and other institutions from south and middle Georgia will be here.

Will a Cuban Come?
There is a good deal of discussion just now among those interested in the Cuban cause as to the probability of the appearance in Atlanta on November 6th of a Cuban patriot, fresh from the scenes of war.

It is known that upon the first decision of the exposition company to set aside a day for Cuba some of the most enthusiastic adherents to the cause addressed a letter to the board of the exposition informing them of the fact and advising that in some way a Cuban be sent to Atlanta on that day.

Since that time, however, the day for Cuba has been changed from November 6th to December 17th.

There are some who say that if this letter is not interpreted that a Cuban will be here on November 6th.

A Suggestion to Uncle Sam.
There is no feature at the fair that draws a greater crowd than the fish exhibit in the government building. The nature of the exhibit made it difficult to construct it to accommodate a crowd. The people press and jostle and collide and push and cuss, some of them, in their eagerness to pass through and get a glimpse at the different species of the finny tribe. Many are prevented from doing so at all.

A release-headed editor from Arkansas made a suggestion yesterday.

"Why not," he said, "have an entrance at one end and the exit at the other end of the alcove. In this way all collision would be averted and the people could see in peace. I think that the crowd should be made to come in at one end and get out at the other. It would prevent much inconvenience."

This suggestion will probably be adopted by the government board.

The Farmers Coming.
Yesterday there was a notable increase in the rural representation at the fair. Before this the character of the fair has been decidedly urban and metropolitan. This has been due to the fact that the farmers of the south are gathering the cotton crop and putting it on market. In many sections now their crop is exhausted and the farmers with their pocket books filled are scurrying to Atlanta.

No Fireworks Tonight.

There will be no fireworks at the exposition tonight.

It has been decided by the management to give the great show tomorrow night.

NOW FOR AWARDS

Gold Medals and Diplomas To Be Given the Exhibitors.

MAKING UP THE VERDICT

At a Meeting Next Week the Jury Will Name Medal Winners.

MEMBERS OF THE JURY HAVE GONE HOME

All That Remains Is for Them To Meet and Make Up Their Verdict, Which Will Be Done Next Week.

The merits of the exhibits of the exposition hang in the balance.

The jury of awards, having completed its work at the exposition, has returned and will meet again in Washington city, when the final awards will be made and the medals and diplomas will be delivered.

The work of examining into the merits and especially good qualities of the exhibits was promptly on time with every detail and every paper when the jury was called to order at the first meeting. His work was accomplished in a faithful manner and was commented upon by those who received the benefit of his labor.

"I believe that within a few hours it may truly be said that the jury have examined every exhibit which was entered and in place according to the regulations of this exposition," said President Gilman to Dr. Hopkins. "They are now engaged in considering the appropriate awards and will soon hold a meeting at which their conclusions will be reached and officially announced to the director general."

"I should not invite any further papers on the part of the exhibitors, but in case you are informed of any omissions please request a written statement to be handed over and then forward the paper to me at Washington. I shall be in constant relation to all the jurors. In many cases they have examined exhibits without finding exhibitors in their places, and they have worked early in the morning and late at night in order to do justice to all. I think that when the announcements are made that it will be seen that there are no serious errors or omissions and that such slight changes and additions as may be called for can easily be given attention."

Professor J. Howard Gore, of the Columbian university, of Washington, ranks very high as an educator and has been four times appointed as United States commissioner to foreign exhibitions. He has visited all exhibitions held both in this country and other places for the past half century and his indorsement, which is unqualified, means much for the exposition in Atlanta.

The Jury Meets in Washington.
The jury of awards will meet in Washington November 6th, when final action will be taken. It was the desire of the jury to make the awards before leaving, but as the members all came at a personal sacrifice and as their time was badly needed at home, they decided to collect all information here and then return and make the awards at a later day.

In the meantime the jurors will carefully consider each exhibit and will complete their reports before the day of the meeting in Washington city. At this meeting bronze medals, or possibly silver medals, will be awarded for the higher degrees of merit.

Honorable mention will be made of a large number of exhibits, good in their various departments and worthy of official notice.

IN PEABODY'S HONOR

The Exercises Held at the Auditorium Yesterday Afternoon BY EDUCATIONAL CONGRESS

Dr. W. H. Payne, the Chancellor of the Peabody Normal Institute, Spoke.

HOW OUR TEACHERS SHOULD BE TRAINED

The Morning Session of the Congress Devoted to the Work of Secondary Schools.

Yesterday was Peabody day at the exposition.

No exercises were held in the public schools of the city and the teachers spent the day on the exposition grounds.

Yesterday afternoon a Peabody session of the educational congress was held in the auditorium. The principal address of the session was delivered by Dr. W. H. Payne, the chancellor of the Peabody Normal Institute, of Nashville, Tenn.

Superintendent W. F. Slaton, of the public schools of Atlanta, presided. On the platform with Superintendent Slaton were Dr. W. H. Payne, Chancellor Boggs, of the State University; Dr. J. B. Hunt, of the University of Georgia; Dr. B. L. Whitman and several others.

The exercises commenced at 2:30 o'clock. In a few brief words Superintendent Slaton introduced Chancellor William E. Boggs, of the State University, who presented Dr. W. H. Payne.

Dr. Payne Presented.

In presenting the distinguished educator, Dr. Payne said:

"What is the use of presenting to this audience a gentleman whose name is a household word in Georgia and whose voice has come to us over and over again as we have labored in the schoolroom. The chancellor of the Peabody Normal Institute will speak to us this afternoon and I take great pleasure in presenting to you Dr. W. H. Payne, of Nashville, Tenn. (Applause.)

The prolonged applause which greeted Dr. Payne, as he stood up in the presence of the large audience of teachers, was only a hearty recognition of his services as one of the most distinguished educators of the south.

Dr. Payne's address was a more pronounced ovation being paid to any public man. It was several seconds before the speaker was able to proceed.

Dr. Payne spoke without notes or manuscript and apparently with the ease of one who understood his subject and needed no special preparation. He entertained his audience for nearly an hour and a half and his speech, though void of literary pretense, was one of the most delightful features of the congress.

Dr. Curry's Absence Regretted.

Dr. Payne began his address by stating his situation was very embarrassing to him. He did not expect to be the principal of the afternoon, supposing that Dr. Curry would fill that honored place on the program.

He merely expected to supplement Dr. Curry's speech with a few remarks of his own. In the absence of Dr. Curry from the city he would do his best to fill the place but would not promise to instruct the audience in the absence of Dr. Curry.

In spite of this apology, however, and the chancellor's regret that Dr. Curry was prevented from making his address, the audience was highly entertained, and, better still, instructed.

"My reverence for Mr. Peabody," said Dr. Payne, "and his noble work in seeking to educate his fellow men intensifies my regret that I feel in the absence of Dr. Curry. I feel gratified, however, a day should be set apart in the calendar of this great exposition to the memory of George Peabody and for this reason, I am only too happy to raise my voice on this occasion."

Shakespeare Adapted.

"My voice is rather weak," said Dr. Payne. "I wish for your sake, as well as for my own, that it were stronger. It is, but that is a matter over which I have no control. I felt like quoting Shakespeare, in this connection, or perhaps I should say like to quote him. A voice, a voice, my kingdom for a voice. Since I have not the voice to reach all of you I must quote Shakespeare again and ask you to lend me your ears." In receiving your ear in exchange for my voice I have no doubt that I will be getting the best of the bargain." (Laughter.)

Creeds and Ideals.

"The fundamental problem of civilization is the education of teachers. The minds of the young for good or evil, for time and eternity, are molded by the teachers of the land and the importance of educating teachers for their work is obvious. It is the most important of all the problems of the right material. Teachers must not only be able to teach, but the influence of the teacher should be ennobling to the pupil."

It is in this connection that every noble lived must be spent in the pursuit of some definite ideal. If a teacher's aim is below the ideal no real success can be achieved. It is in this connection that a teacher should have an ideal, but in addition to this, he should have a creed. He should have a political creed, a religious creed and a moral creed, and should feel and think deeply for himself without depending upon the minds of other people."

Normal Schools Discussed.

"What is true of individual teachers," said Dr. Payne, "is equally true of institutions. Institutions should have ideals; they should also have creeds. Unless an institution has a definite end in view and unless it has a creed of its own it must prove a failure. Every institution should have a responsible head. This does not rob the subordinate ministers of individuality, but places the burden on the executive head of the institution."

Mr. Peabody's Aim.

"Half the fund given by Mr. Peabody to the Atlanta Exposition was for the purpose of establishing a normal school for the education of teachers."

BAY STATE DAY.

Massachusetts Is Coming To See the International Exposition.

MR. LOVERING IS IN TOWN

Governor Greenhalge and Staff with Distinguished Citizens Will Arrive November 15th.

Mr. William C. Lovering, chairman of the Massachusetts commission, is in the city and is stopping at the Aragon.

He reached the city yesterday and will remain until Thursday afternoon, when he will return home. His mission here is to complete all arrangements for Massachusetts day. No November 15th, when Governor Greenhalge and staff will be present.

The exercises on Massachusetts day will be held in the auditorium. The governor and staff will make addresses. After the program in the auditorium, the governor and staff will be luncheon in the Massachusetts building and will then be shown over the grounds. In the afternoon the party will be given tea in the Massachusetts department of the exposition.

Dr. Payne's Idea.

"A standard is a good thing to have," said Dr. Payne, "but it must be a standard that is high. It must be in sympathy with the great masses of the people and from year to year the standard of the institution gradually, thus making the institution a standard of excellence as the institution could stand without being crippled or impaired."

Scholarship Preferred to Method.

"Normal schools, as a rule, base their success on method. Perhaps greater stress is laid on the proposition: how to teach than on the acquisition of knowledge as a prerequisite for teaching. In the great majority of these schools scholarship is subordinate to method."

Dr. Payne took the position that scholarship was more important than method and the purpose of the institution over which he presided was to graduate scholars who were capable of teaching the youth of the land.

Principle Instead of Rule.

"I wish to advance another proposition," said Dr. Payne, "and that is that principle is more important than rule. The emphasis in the discipline of the Peabody Normal school. When a teacher or a pupil understands a principle he has gained a victory and is independent of rules which may be fixed in the mind without the least knowledge of the principle involved."

The Missionary Spirit.

Dr. Payne closed his able speech by laying down his missionary proposition that every teacher should be imbued with the missionary spirit and should go forth in the consciousness of their sacred calling to instruct the ignorant and to lift the world from darkness. In order to possess this spirit a teacher should be actuated by sound morals and should yield to the governing influence of truth and virtue.

Yesterday Morning's Session.

A large gathering of teachers filed the auditorium yesterday morning.

Major W. F. Slaton, the superintendent of Atlanta's public schools, presided.

The session was a very interesting one and quite a number of able papers were read.

A Teacher's Responsibility.

The first paper read before the morning session was prepared and read by Professor Laurence C. Hill, of Lawrenceville, Ga., on the black and work of the secondary schools.

Professor Hill summed up his idea of a teacher's responsibility in the following language:

"If a little child begins his school life as my primary grade I shall follow him with tender and parental solicitude as he passes through the kindergarten, the primary school, the college and the university, and I claim the right to glory over his academic triumphs, to share in his joy and sorrow, to be proud of his achievements and to be grieved by his failures. I share in the exultation of his success and in the measure of a reflection upon a quality of my guidance."

"And so I repeat my claim that every well organized system of instruction is in a very little sense a university in which the child is brought up to the highest standards of political science are members of the same faculty. If we all realized this, we should not be so prone to criticize those with whom we have been brought up. We should see that we who are in the same great work that faces you. Our difficulties are not so great as yours. We cannot understand your problems so well as you. If I were to organize a system of public education for you today, I should not dare to advise that with all the resources of the state should be cast side by side as I know they should be in the north. Problems due to local conditions must be solved by those who understand the conditions. But the general conditions of the great problem of education in a republic are the same everywhere; these conditions demand education as a pledge of the stability and perpetuity of the republic. In this scheme of orderly education the secondary school occupies a unique position and does a work that is vital to the rest of the system and to the community from which it receives its support."

The next speaker was Major W. F. Garrison of the Peabody Normal school, Nashville, Tenn. He talked on the line of Professor Hill's paper and advanced quite a number of sound, original ideas.

Character Building.

Mr. A. B. Montgomery, the dean of Columbia college, declared that a teacher's function was not simply to instruct the mind, but to improve the morals and build up the character. Said he:

"No paper would be complete which failed to refer to the moral, the spiritual side of our profession. The teacher may make his pupil at home in the calculus and astronomy, familiar with the most abstruse problems of physics and the symbols of chemistry; he may bring forth powers of reasoning that rival the argumentation of Kant and Descartes; he may enable his pupil to behold with unerring vision the panorama of the world's actions, and with clear eye, to look through the vista of unnumbered ages; but if he has not reached the soul and uplifted character, he has failed to teach. The pupil will value words of the soul and truths of philosophy; to clear demonstration and cogent reasoning he will form his conception of the preceptor's life from the display of profound erudition or from masterly exposition of the laws of science or the dogma of philosophy; but in the manner in which the teacher applies to his own actions the principles which he proclaims."

President E. L. Whitman, of Columbia university, was the last speaker of the morning session. He presented a modern opportunity and he delivered one of the most effective and thoughtful addresses of the session.

Moody Choir.

The Moody choir rehearsed tonight at the Young Men's Christian Association. Any person able to sing gospel songs will be admitted. Young people from Christian Endeavor, Epworth League and Baptist Union societies especially urged to join the choir. The rehearsal is from 8 to 9 o'clock—only one hour.

QUAKERS' BIG DAY

Pennsylvania Will Celebrate November 14th at the Exposition.

Governor and Staff Coming

Scores of Leading Citizens of the State Will Be Here To Help Make the Day a Great Success.

Pennsylvania day will be one of the great special days at the exposition.

Ten thousand Pennsylvanians will be here to celebrate the day and make it one of the biggest days of the fair. Governor Hastings, his staff and the entire Pennsylvania commission, consisting of thirty-two members and a number of legislators will be here, besides a number of other distinguished citizens.

Dr. Thomas J. Keenan has charge of the arrangement of the programme for the day. Mr. Keenan has been working on the programme for several days. He is expected in Atlanta this morning to complete his work.

Several special train loads of people are expected here. Governor Hastings and his party will travel in special trains. They will first visit Chickamauga Park, where they will hold special exercises. Pennsylvanians feel a great interest in the park and when it was decided several weeks ago they decided not to attend, but to wait until November 14th and hold special exercises. They will come from Chickamauga to Atlanta.

November 14th will be Pennsylvania day. The programme arranged by Secretary Keenan up to date is as follows:

Meeting under the auspices of the women's building.

ONE OF CODY'S REDS

"Crazy Bull," of the Wild West Show, Held for Murder.

HE'S WANTED IN BALTIMORE

And the Charge Will Be Strongly Fought in the Courts—Will Come Up Today.

Buffalo Bill and his aggregation of rough riders of the world performed yesterday with just one Indian absent from the ranks.

That descendant of America's former roving tribes occupied a cell at police headquarters.

Crazy Bull is supposed to be the name of the individual who failed to scalp and shoot several cowboys in the course of the performance of the Wild West show yesterday afternoon and last night. Instead of giving his unearthly warwhoop yells and speeding away on the back of a pony, with a scalp dangling from his side, Crazy Bull spent the afternoon and last night in a cell smoking cigarettes and meditating on his peculiar situation.

Crazy Bull is charged with a serious crime. He was arrested on a warrant issued by Governor Atkinson at the request of the governor of Maryland. The Indian is wanted in Baltimore on a charge of manslaughter.

Crazy Bull vigorously denies, in his own language, it is said, that he slaughtered any man or other person in Baltimore, and he says with an indignant shrug of his massive shoulders that he does not understand why

THE DRUG CLERK'S STORY

He Talks of Headaches and Nervousness and Gives a Cure for Both.

From The Evening News, Newark, N. J.
It was the drug clerk's turn to tell a story of one of his experiences, and the reporter, expecting something good, as usual, settled himself comfortably in a chair prepared to give his undivided attention to the speaker. The latter was Henry Maier, who resides with his parents on Acqueduct street, Newark, N. J., and who handles out medicine over the counter of Dr. Andrew F. Burkhardt's drug store at 211 Orange street, this city.

"Perhaps I can do nothing better," he began, "than to tell you the secret of my good health. It is a story that I have told to many recently and as it resulted in good in each case, it may be worth your while to listen to it. To begin with, I was not always strong and robust, as I am now. Long hours of work and hard study had left me in a wretched condition. Bright, lustrous, healthy-looking, I was a ready victim, and at times I was so nervous that the dropping of a pin would cause me to give a violent start, and then I would be seized with a fit of trembling that was, to put it mildly, exceedingly bothersome. Well, I began to doctor myself. Now I am something of a doctor myself, I could find nothing that would cure those terrible headaches or put an end to my extreme nervousness. When I picked up a bottle my hand would shake as though I had the chills, and if it was a powder that I was handling I stood a good chance of sprinkling it all over these black trousers. Things went from bad to worse, and I soon realized that a man of my physical condition had better not attempt to mix any medicine.

"Try a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills," said Dr. Burkhardt one day, and as you know the doctor's advice is always worth following, I got the Pink Pills and began to take them. Aladdin's lamp never performed the wonders of these pills. Would you believe it? Before I had taken the contents of one box my headache began to give me a day off occasionally, and soon it left me entirely free from my nervousness? Well, the pills put an end to that with almost startling abruptness. You see I know enough about the business to appreciate the importance of following the prescribing physician's directions, and by paying strict attention to those given by Dr. Williams with each box of his Pink Pills, I was soon another healthy, happy man now! A picture of health, eh? Well, that is what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will do for a man or a woman either. See, I can hold this glass of water out now without spilling a drop, but I couldn't do that two months ago and—

"What is it, man?" he asked as a neatly dressed woman came up to the counter. "A box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills." "Yes, ma'am, 50 cents, please. Thank you." "These Pink Pills are great things," said Dr. Maier, as he turned to the woman again, and the latter, after all he had heard, thought she would try a box.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., for 60c per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

FOR CUBA'S FREEDOM

Two Natives of the Island Here in Behalf of Cuban Independence.

THE DAUGHTER OF AN EXILE

One Is President of the Ladies' Cuban League.

THE TWO WILL SPEAK IN ATLANTA SOON

A Word About the Pioneers of the Struggle on the Little Island.

Two natives of Cuba, a lady and gentleman of high birth, fine education and excellent social standing, are in Atlanta in behalf of the cause of Cuban liberty. They come from New Orleans, where they are prominently identified with strong organizations which have as their object the independence of Cuba. Mrs. H. Diaz Gonzales, the lady, is the daughter of a great Cuban patriot who was exiled from the island because of his powerful work in the rebellion of 1895-1896, and she was a member of the Ladies' Cuban League, of New Orleans, an organization composed of seventy-five prominent ladies of New Orleans. The ladies of this league possess means and occupy high social positions. The gentleman, Mr. Joseph Echezabal, is a prominent patriot who has lived in this country since the last Cuban rebellion. He is an officer in the Circulo Cubano-Americano and represents club No. 95 of New York city. In New Orleans he has done much to further the cause of Cuban liberty. He is a man of means, stands very highly among the people of the Crescent City and by entertainments and other ways he has succeeded in raising quite a sum for the use of the Cuban insurgents.

Mrs. Gonzales and Mr. Echezabal came to Atlanta to arrange for the celebration of Cuban day at the exposition. They are not at all disappointed that the celebration of the day has been postponed. They take the view that the postponement will only add to the grandeur of the day.

"This Cuban day at the exposition," said Mr. Echezabal, "is, I consider, the most important thing that has occurred in this country in behalf of Cuban independence since the rebellion commenced. Sentiment regarding Cuba is just now in such a state that it will be greatly influenced by such a gathering as is proposed to be held in Atlanta.

"I hope to see the Cuban rebels recognized as belligerents. I believe congress will not be slow to do it. Such a demonstration as will be held here will not be without its effect upon the national legislature. Speeches by Governor Claude Matthews, of Indiana, and by the other prominent speakers who will take part will do vast good in influencing action in Cuba's favor. It will be the most important meeting for Cuba held in this country during the year.

"Everything is hopeful for Cuba. The revolutionists now hold two-thirds of the island and are advancing every day. They are now near the beautiful city of Matanzas. They are making great gains of territory weekly. They have established a government and elected Salvador y Betancourt president of the country. He is a great man. He was a titled man, but gave up his title to fight for freedom."

"How does your circle work for Cuba?" was asked.

"Our work is that of collecting funds for the purchase of weapons and ammunition for the rebels. We have been very successful in the work. Several expeditions have already been sent out to Cuba for the aid of the rebels. One left Wilmington, Del., five days ago.

"Yes, there is some little risk about equipping these ships with war munitions. There is a penalty in this country against it, and that is where the benefit of having belligerent rights would come. We could send help to the rebels without any fear of the law. There is a penalty for boarding a ship loaded with weapons for rebels in American waters."

Mrs. Gonzales is one of the most devoted patriots among the many friends of Cuba. Her home was in Cuba until her father was exiled on account of his prominent part in the former rebellion.

"I remember General Maximo Gomez, the present head of the army, well," said she. "He has dined at our home often. He is a brave man and a great one."

Mrs. Gonzales's father died an exile in New Orleans. She has devoted much of her time to the cause of Cuban freedom and much magnificent service has been contributed to the cause by her. She organized the Ladies' Cuban League. This organization has done great service. It held two or three entertainments, netting handsome sums. Mrs. Gonzales has done much.

Both of these distinguished visitors will doubtless deliver addresses before they leave in behalf of Cuba. They have been considering the matter and have been strongly urged to make speeches. They will do so in a day or two. They expect to leave for New Orleans the latter part of the week.

The expedition which set out from Wilmington, Del., last week, to which Mr. Echezabal referred, was headed by young Ceperides, a son of the first president of Cuba. Ceperides was elected president during the first rebellion. His property was all confiscated and he was killed in an engagement. His family, of whom young Ceperides was a youthful member, were allowed to leave the island in peace. They went to New York, where they have lived since. Young Ceperides has been studying abroad. He returned a few weeks ago and was met at the steamer by several hundred patriots. He immediately commenced fitting out an urgent expedition. He and his associates worked with the very greatest secrecy. They drilled in a hall on Broadway, New York. They purchased hundreds of guns, machetes and other instruments of war, together with a vast amount of ammunition. They were taught the use of the machete and became expert soldiers before setting out.

They left New York very mysteriously last Monday night, going to Philadelphia. They went separately to avoid suspicion. At Philadelphia Ceperides and his associates went to the head of the expedition, which was out of American jurisdiction he boarded the rebel expedition, which had sailed away from Wilmington. The ship will put in at some point of the southern ports of Cuba. The Spanish gunboats will be on the alert for it, but the gallant young volunteers who are with Ceperides, of whom there are 100, hope to land safely and deliver the arms which they carry to the insurgents. This shipment of arms will be of great value to the rebel forces. Ceperides, who is at the head of the expedition, will be a prominent figure in the rebellion before he has been in the island very long.

Ceperides made a trip through the south before he started on his trip and while he was preparing to fit out the ship, he visited Tampa, Key West, New Orleans and other cities of the south. It is thought that he received substantial aid in his undertaking from Cubans in the south.

There is every likelihood that Mrs. Gonzales and Mr. Echezabal will deliver speeches in Atlanta in the next day or two. They would certainly have a good hearing, as Atlanta is just now alive on the subject of Cuban independence. Several Cuban gentlemen are very much interested in arranging a date for the speaking and the chances for such an arrangement being made are exceedingly good.

In the meantime the two loyal Cubans are meeting many sympathizing Atlantians who are bidding them goodspeed in their work.

RENTED OUT A CUSTOMER'S SUIT

I. Kalish Was Before Justice Foute Yesterday on a Peculiar Charge.

Judge Foute had I. Kalish, a Hungarian, before him yesterday on the charge of larceny after trust.

Kalish is a clothes cleaner. He has a shop on the corner of Broad and Peachtree streets, where his sign announces that he cleans and presses clothes very cheap. A few days ago Mrs. O. C. Cullen left with Mr. Kalish a fine tailor-made suit of clothes to be cleaned and pressed.

Mrs. Cullen went back to get his clothes and found the suit missing. As he said, he had cleaned the suit for a night and that he, the negro, had never brought them back. Mr. Cullen immediately had a warrant issued against the clothes presser for larceny after trust.

Justice Foute bound Kalish over to the superior court in the sum of $300. In the meantime the suit which was in possession of a well suit which cost Mr. Cullen just $50 in Washington city.

FIERCE FIGHT WITH A RAZOR.

One Negro Desperately Cut and Will Not Recover.

Mary Harris was arrested yesterday by Bailiff Martin, of Judge Landrum's court, as the sequel of a very aggravated trouble between two families of negroes. Mary Harris is a negro woman and her arrest was caused by Simon Bowen, who took out a possessory warrant against her to recover his property which she was taking away from his house.

The cause of the legal proceeding is a fight which occurred the other night and the sequel of the fight was jealousy.

The fight is the most interesting part of the whole matter and it is a wonder that it has not found its way to the courts. It seems that Bowen found another negro, Rowan Shields, with his wife the other night and a bloody fight followed. Both negroes were badly hurt in the fight and Shields, it is thought, will die. He was beaten almost to death and Bowen was fearfully cut with Shields's razor.

Mary Harris is Bowen's wife's sister. Bowen's wife left and her sister had started to take charge of the household possessions when Bowen stopped her. Shields is at the Grady hospital and there is very little possibility of his recovery. He is a very desperate negro. He is the negro who several years ago killed Chief Joyner's brother.

YOU NEED A BRACER.

BUT IN A SOLID, NOT A LIQUID FORM.

SLEEPLESSNESS, IMPAIRED VIGOR, DEBILITY, DYSPPEPSIA, NEURALGIA, ARE DUE TO NERVOUS DEBILITY.

A Sure Specific for Nervous Debility Found in Dr. Charcot's Kola Nerve Tablets.

The morning or the evening stimulant may for a time stir your torpid vigor and as you phrase it "put you on your feet again." But for how long? Is it relief or cure you want? If you are sleepless, if your vigor is impaired, if your nerves are unstrung and your temper fitful? Do you want to be the man or woman you "used to be when well" for all time or to be in constant need of stimulus? Alcohol is a human fuel perhaps, but most volatile and unsatisfactory. There is no intent to preach a temperance sermon, but let it truth above set forth.

There is a sustaining and invigorating remedy, speedy and lasting in its effects, a sure specific for all the troubles outlined above and a cure which the best physicians and thousands who have used it call "infallible." Such remedy is Dr. Charcot's Kola Nerve Tablets, and you will find them the "Bracer" you need and absolutely free from evil or secondary effects.

F. W. Teeple, manager for Goodspeed Bros., 39 Dearborn street, Chicago, writes: "Gentlemen—Through the advice of a friend I obtained a box of Dr. Charcot's Kola Nerve Tablets, and I have been very much benefited. I have been suffering from nervousness and insomnia. Up to this date I have used but half the box, but already discern an immense change for the better in my condition. I unhesitatingly pronounce these Tablets a wonderful and speedy remedy for the ailments above mentioned and shall continue the use of same until wholly cured. Very respectfully, F. W. TEEPLE."

The proprietors absolutely guarantee infallible results from one box of Tablets. $1.00 per package (one month's treatment); trial package, 50c. All druggists or sent direct. Kola booklet free. Eureka Chemical and Manufacturing Company, La Crosse, Wis.

INTERNATIONAL TRADE

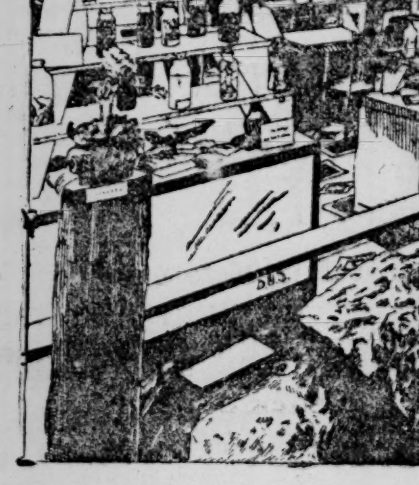

A Firm That Does Business with the World.

FLINT, EDDY & COMPANY
A Glimpse at Their Methods by Which They Create Orders for American Manufacturers.

Much has been said of the benefits the South is expected to derive from the exposition by showing to the world her wonderful resources and advantages as a manufacturing section. It has, however, developed upon one firm of exhibitors to make these predictions assume tangibility and to demonstrate in plain, business-like manner without waiting an indefinite period the practicability of these theories.

This firm, Flint, Eddy & Co., from New York, whose exhibit is in the manufactures and liberal arts building, conducts a wonderful business. Wonderful because of its volume and wonderful because of its variety. It would perhaps be best described as an immense commission house that has its agents in forty foreign countries, who buy through native goods as we import, mainly raw materials and who sell to them our export products, chiefly manufactured goods.

Extravagant as the statement may appear, their total business amounts to $30,000,000 annually, which, by the way, does not seem so unreasonable when we are informed that they own one-fifth of all the American merchant vessels afloat.

Of course, there are very few such firms in the world and it would be almost impossible for a concern engaged in one branch of the mercantile trade to conduct such an immense traffic, even though they had two worlds for a field. As a matter of fact, Flint, Eddy & Co. have no such monopoly. They are simply a very successful article of commerce. They will buy anything from an Egyptian peasant to a herd of elephants. In 1888 they bought the Esmeralda from the Chilean government and sold it to the Japanese government. They also equipped and sold to the Brazilian government at the outbreak of the recent revolution the 131 dcl. and the 132 dcl. and the 133 dcl. This required very delicate negotiations, but these vessels were turned over to the purchasers sixteen days after the order was given.

During the recent war between China and Japan they did a large business in furnishing supplies. In fact, whenever a war is imminent, the services of Flint, Eddy & Co. are in demand, as there is nothing in the commercial line too large for them to undertake. They realize the great possibilities the South offers as a manufacturing section and that in the future southern manufacturers will be able to compete with goods to offer for sale to the markets of the world. Their idea is also to show how the South can be made to compete with the rest of the world, and to encourage the South to reach out for this golden foreign trade in their calculations for business and not to confine themselves to the narrow limits of their present territory. They recognize the fact that there is a canal sooner or later to be opened across the neck of land that binds the northern and southern continents, whether through Nicaragua or Panama, and when this is done the South holds the key to the trade of the world. For these reasons they have gone to the expense of their comprehensive exhibit and no one with reason will doubt that they will some day be amply repaid for it.

Their fleet of vessels, ranging from 52 to 3,200 tons, carry cargoes made up of machinery, hardware, cloth goods, canned goods, medicines and every conceivable manufacture returned to the factory on the earth. In return they come back laden with cargoes of rubber, hides and coffee from South America, diamonds from India and Persia, tea and silks and curios from Japan and China, gums and spices from Arabia, ivory, ostrich feathers, and other goods from South Africa, and in no way interfere with their own foreign agents.

The answer is that Flint, Eddy & Co. are buyers and sellers, and often conduct a sale which amounts to thousands of dollars in which not a piece of currency is passed. For instance they will effect a trade with some large dealer in South America, in which a cargo of hides will be taken in exchange for machinery or other manufactured goods, gathered there and there in the North and the United States. They recently received an order for 80 locomotives from one of the South American governments—the largest order of the kind ever placed at one time.

Perhaps their largest import business is in rubber, the market for which sometimes control. Next to that in importance is their trade in the manufacture of goods. They also do business in foreign hard woods, minerals and cotton from Peru, Persia and Egypt, all of which is of a different character from our southern cotton and in no way interferes with their own foreign agents.

The exhibit. The policy of Flint, Eddy & Co. seems to be as far-reaching as their trade, which, like Great Britain's territory, the sun never sets upon. They have made no attempt to interest the idly curious in the fancy of a child, but have endeavored to show and have succeeded in presenting an object lesson setting forth their methods, the extent of their business and the future possibilities of it. Their exhibit is taken at $100,000 from every foreign land, brings back to our minds strongly the stories of Cook, Hume, and others, which will always exercise a fascination over us. The decorations of the canopy above the exhibit are superb, consisting of the flags of all the nations with which they have relations. These flags are beautifully draped, evidently the work of an expert. Over the entrance are two large tusks of ivory which frequently impress some hoosier as "the biggest cow horns I ever saw." These tusks are from Zambiar and are commercially valued for the ivory in them at $1,000. In large glass cases covering a space of over 1,000 feet are numerous foreign drugs, minerals, precious stones and curiosities which represent a cost of $100,000. In one of the cases is a "machete" or saber used during the present Cuban revolution and presented to Captain Johnson by a friend. In another is the head of an Indian chief from a tribe in Ecuador. It is not much larger than the bowl of a pipe, which it much resembles. The body structure has been removed from the skull, the features compressed and the whole preserved by some process that has been lost to the world.

There are only two of these relics in the world, one being owned in Paris and the one described by Mr. Charles R. Flint. These are greatly prized by their owners. To those who have a taste for the uncanny it will be a great attraction, and is well worth a visit to the building.

To give some idea of the variety of articles handled by them as importers there are samples of asphaltum, bitumens, bone for fetters, logwood and madder for dyeing, gum arabic, spices, opium, camphor, nitrate of soda, indigo, cinchona bark, cochineal, etc., all in the crude state as brought from the various countries which produce them.

In food products there are several interesting cases of coffee, teas and cocoa beans. An interesting exhibit is that of natural grasses from South Africa and Costa Rica, Mexico and Cuba. A fine display of woods, comprising large logs of mahogany, ebony, sandal wood and others, will be of interest to wood workers.

An exhibit of feathers of the brightest hues from the many colored tropical birds and wrought into the quaintest designs is shown from Mexico. There are also some garments made of them which are now so valuable and once so highly prized by the ancient Aztecs.

The display of India rubber and the various utensils used in its manufacture is especially interesting. Tools used by the natives in working the milky gum up into the crude rubber and presented to the house by Dom Pedro are in this display. Not the least among the picture display to the merchant whose mind is bent on facts and figures is a chart and map which shows the shipping and trading routes of the American merchant vessels afloat. It is a valuable exhibit, and is well worth a glance at. The volume of business done in any one country or article is shown by the size of the letters.

In a large frame is a collection of photographs of various foreign scenes—pictures of native men and women, views of sugar and coffee plantations and glimpses of the various cities and towns of the world. These photographs were sent to the various agents of Flint, Eddy & Co., while doing business in these lands, and are of great value to the exhibitors. They are also of great value to the exhibitors. They are also of great value to the exhibitors.

Flint, Eddy & Co. had it necessary to publish three weekly articles in English, Portuguese and Spanish, respectively, which contain prices and terms of goods, and are sent to the exhibitors. These articles are of great value to the exhibitors. They are also of great value to the exhibitors.

Mr. Henry Payne is the general representative of the house, and for the weeks he will be with the exhibitors. He is a man of great experience and is well known to the exhibitors. He is also of great value to the exhibitors.

WAS MRS. WHITAKER

The Woman Killed Last Monday by a Train Identified.

WAS MRS. MARY J. WHITAKER
The Body of the Unknown Suicide Buried Yesterday as W. M. Humphries.

The woman who was killed by an exposition train on the Southern railroad at the Ella street crossing Monday morning was identified yesterday morning. She was Mrs. Mary J. Whitaker, a small village near Roswell.

The body of Mrs. Whitaker was identified by her daughter and sister, Emma Whitaker and Mrs. Underwood, the latter of the western part of the city. Both called at Patterson's undertaking establishment yesterday morning and recognized the dead woman as Mrs. Whitaker.

Mrs. Whitaker, formerly residing in Alpharetta and later in Atlanta, she went to visit friends and relatives. She has a son, George Whitaker, who resides near Alpharetta. He was in the city yesterday morning of the death of Mrs. Whitaker.

It seems that Mrs. Whitaker got off of the Belle train on the Southern at the Ella street crossing. The train stopped at the crossing to let off several passengers. Just as the train started forward toward the city Mrs. Whitaker started across the Ella street grade crossing. As she stepped on the outgoing track of the Southern she was struck by an exposition train. She was knocked a distance of forty feet and instantly killed.

Some of Mrs. Whitaker's relatives said yesterday that she met her death while on her way to the house of Mrs. McKey, an employee of the Southern, near the latter company's shops. It is supposed that she was among the passengers that got off of the Belle train.

The dead woman's relatives said yesterday that Mrs. Whitaker was about 35 years old. They said that she was very hard of hearing and doubtless failed to hear the warning of the watchman at the crossing. She wore a heavy veil over her face when struck by the train.

It is easy to see the body of the woman will be buried today. Mrs. Whitaker's relatives appear to be poor people and they said that they had no money to bury the body. Superintendent Wickens, of the Southern, told coroner Paden that while his company did not admit responsibility for the body, still the company would see that the body received a decent burial.

Buried as Humphries. The body of the woman who remained at Patterson's undertaking establishment for over a week, was buried at Westview yesterday afternoon under the name of W. M. Humphries.

The burial certificate was issued by Coroner Paden on the statement of the young woman who claimed that the dead man was her husband. She is known in Atlanta as Dora Smith.

The burial of the body under the name of Humphries was by means of a coffin, the mystery of the unknown man's suicide. He had not been seen for more than a year by the woman claiming to be his wife and she was not absolutely certain that the body was that of her former husband. She stated to the coroner that she was willing to take an oath that to the best of her knowledge and belief the body was that of her husband, but at no time has she positively declared that she recognized the man, so far as known.

Mrs. Humphries says that she recognized the body of the man by two marks on his body, one a burn mark on his neck and the other a mark on his temple. She said that she was married to W. M. Humphries in Hampton nearly four years ago. Humphries left his wife about ten months afterwards and his wife says that she only saw him once from that time until a few days ago.

It seems that Mrs. Humphries applied for a divorce about two years ago. The case has never been finalized. She did not attend the burial of the body of the suicide yesterday.

Gillespie Buried Here. The body of A. Gillespie, the man who died yesterday of heart failure, was buried at Westview by Undertaker Patterson yesterday afternoon. The body was laid out yesterday in the hope that Gillespie's relatives would be heard from, but the man's former home could not be learned. Gillespie had in his pocket a letter supposed to have been written by his daughter. The letter was dated Brooklyn, in July last, and was addressed to W. M. Humphries. It was the police of Brooklyn telegraphed that they were unable to locate any Gillespie in that city. It was a relief that could be the dead man.

Gillespie was about fifty-eight years old. It is thought that he came south for his health.

Will Be Sent to Chicago. The body of C. E. Wheeler, the electrician who was killed by an electric light wire at the exposition grounds Saturday, which has been at Patterson's undertaking office since, will probably be shipped to Chicago this morning. That city was formerly the home of Wheeler and he was a relative there. Wheeler's brother was expected to arrive in Atlanta some time last night and take charge of the body. Wheeler was killed by a live wire supposed to be carrying 200 volts of electricity.

HARRIS LITHIA WATER.
Dr. Fred B. Palmer Gives It His Unqualified Indorsement.

October 11, 1895.—Harris Lithia Water Company, I do not give a certificate to any water, medicine, etc., until I am thoroughly acquainted with its merits. I have used your Lithia Water upon myself with the greatest benefit. It was suffering with inflammation of the bladder and used the well-known remedies without effect, when I was induced to try one-half gallon of water. I took it and was entirely relieved, and since have had no trouble, although I only drink a small quantity of the water each day. Very respectfully, FRED B. PALMER, M.D.

Mr. J. T. Harris, Harris Lithia Water Company, I have been using your Lithia Water for several months past, and I believe it to be one of the best lithia waters that I have come in contact with. E. ST. JOHN, Vice President S. A. L. R. R.

FASTER TIME WEST

All the Roads To Cut Down Their Schedule
Time to Chicago.

SPECIAL TRAINS TO THE RIVER

The Old Question of a Through Passenger Service Between Atlanta and Chicago Revived.

At last the railroads leading from the south to the northwest have realized the necessity of improved passenger service, and within a few days schedules will be put into operation which will place Chicago within twenty-three hours of Atlanta. These quick schedules have been figured out by the Southern railway and its connections and the Western and Atlantic and its connections.

The two strong competitive lines between Atlanta and the Ohio river have thus determined mutually to give an improved service and the new schedules will be for the benefit of the Atlanta exposition.

The Southern railway, acting with the Queen and Crescent and the connecting lines at Cincinnati and Louisville, will make the trip between Atlanta and Chicago in twenty-three hours.

The Louisville and Nashville, acting with the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis and the Western and Atlantic, will make a similar run.

The Southern railway will have through coaches, through sleeping cars and a through dining car between Atlanta and Chicago. While the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis and the Western and Atlantic will have through chair cars and sleeping cars between Atlanta and Nashville.

These cars are not through from Chicago because of the same conditions which have always existed—a failure among the lines north of the Ohio river to agree among themselves which of the three lines should bring the sleeper to the river. There is not sufficient business for sleepers from all three of the routes north of the Ohio to be hauled back and forth, they claim, and they would precipitate a great quarrel if any one of the roads were selected by the southern lines for the through sleeper contract.

The Southern's special train from the northwest will leave Chicago at 12 noon and arrive in Atlanta next morning at 11 o'clock sharp. Returning it will leave Atlanta at 3:40 and make the same time back to Chicago.

The Evansville route, including the Louisville and Nashville and the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis and the Western and Atlantic, will have a train leaving Chicago at 5 in the afternoon and arriving in Atlanta at 4 o'clock.

In addition to this will be the regular local train from Nashville, making all connections, which now arrives and will continue to arrive in Atlanta at 6:30.

Why Not Through Cars?

Chicago is greatly stirred over the question of better passenger facilities between that city and Atlanta and is waging an active campaign among the railroads leading this way for a through system of Pullman cars.

The following from a recent issue of the Times-Herald of that city sets forth the situation as viewed from a Chicago standpoint:

"There is no question that the Louisville and Nashville has broken the agreement of southern lines not to take cars from roads north of the Ohio. The Chicago and Eastern Illinois to Nashville proves it. With the agreement thus broken, and with an adequate service in every other respect, the question is again asked of the Louisville and Nashville why it refuses to do the one thing which is hauling through cars to Atlanta? This question applies not only via the Chicago and Eastern Illinois but the Monon, Pennsylvania and Big Four through Louisville or Cincinnati. Now that the agreement is broken absolutely, the only reason for not yielding to unanimous public opinion is that the trains are loaded with non-paying equipment. The fallacy of this argument has been already exposed in the Times-Herald. New trains have been put on from Louisville and Cincinnati to Atlanta. There is no reason why the sleeping car equipment of these trains should not be made up of one car each from the northern lines. The new trains must run at least one sleeper. In that case the plan proposed would make no more than two extra sleepers. At the rate of 2 cents a mile, which would be paid by the Pullman Company, each car would cost less than $11 for the round trip from either Louisville or Cincinnati to Atlanta. Take now the absurd proposition that there is but one passenger in each sleeper, each way. In that case the cars would be run at a profit. Reduced to the absurdity that there are no passengers, the only objection to changing cars if he were the only passenger and he could get equal good accommodations in the Pullman car."

"But no one knows better than the Louisville and Nashville that this absurdity would not happen. The Chicago and Eastern Illinois for the south with one passenger per sleeper car. On the other hand, travel is good and steady. It has a quota of passengers for which the Louisville and Nashville would be glad to run an extra sleeper if such passengers boarded their train south of Mason and Dixon's line. Every Chicago delegation to the south and every southern delegation to Chicago has for years been chopping away at that Mason and Dixon line until the only remnant of it kept alive is by the hostile action of the Louisville and Nashville. From the north or south, the Chicago man is not accustomed to changing cars when he goes on a journey. In any other direction he can board his car in Chicago and step on the same train at almost any hamlet in America. The Louisville and Nashville alone insists on keeping alive the burden of saying whether it will continue its hostility not only to Chicago but to every public opinion in the south. It has been convicted in the court of public esteem of maintaining a system of freight rates which would place manufacturers from the south at will almost certainly be convicted of this offense in a court of law. It is now convicted in the court of public esteem of obstinately refusing to give Chicago rates in putting together adequate passenger service, which it can now do at a profit. It is high time the Louisville and Nashville, with its practice cally sold New York directorate, explains why its own interests are constantly sacrificed in order that its directors may reap larger profits from their interests in roads from New York to the south. It is in any case a high time that the legislature brought this foe to the interests of their constituents to its knees and compelled it to recognize its duty as a common carrier."

How Southern Lines Reply.

It is claimed now as it has been claimed all along by the roads north of the Ohio that the trouble about getting a system of through cars between Atlanta and Chicago is in the inability of the lines north of the river to come to terms and agree harmoniously which of the three lines shall bring the sleeping cars as far as the river.

It is held that these general objections still obtain and while the Chicago roads claim to be running a through line of sleepers to Nashville and hold this up as evidence that the claims of the southern roads are not good, it is at the same time the reasonable presumption of the lines at interest that if they took through sleeping cars from the Evansville the other lines out of Chicago for the south would raise a war and demoralize the business on the roads that the Evansville was being favored.

Passenger Traffic Manager.

Colonel B. W. Wrenn, speaking of the celebration of Plant day at the exposition said: "It has certainly been a great demonstration and means a great deal. It shows first of all how the men who are associated with Mr. Plant and those who fill the various departments of the system of transportation lines over which his direction has away hold him in love and esteem. It shows that they are enthusiastic for the fullest and fairest fulfillment of their duty as public servants. 'We all feel proud of Plant day. We thank the exposition and the people of the south for having joined us in making it what it has been.'"

CONGRATULATING MR. PLANT.

He Receives Telegrams from Many Sources Expressing Good Wishes.

Among the many telegrams of congratulation received by Mr. Plant which were overlooked in former reports, were the following which are given, with the replies sent by Mr. Plant:

Tampa, Fla., October 27.—H. B. Plant, Atlanta, Ga.: Recognizing in you a friend among themselves which of the three lines should bring the sleeper to the river. There is not sufficient business for sleepers from all three of the routes north of the Ohio to be hauled back and forth, they claim, and they would precipitate a great quarrel if any one of the roads were selected by the southern lines for the through sleeper contract.

The Southern's special train from the northwest will leave Chicago at 12 noon and arrive in Atlanta next morning at 11 o'clock sharp. Returning it will leave Atlanta at 3:40 and make the same time back to Chicago.

This question applies not only via the Chicago and Eastern Illinois but the Monon, Pennsylvania and Big Four through Louisville or Cincinnati. Now that the agreement is broken absolutely, the only reason for not yielding to unanimous public opinion is that the trains are loaded with non-paying equipment. The fallacy of this argument has been already exposed in the Times-Herald. New trains have been put on from Louisville and Cincinnati to Atlanta. There is no reason why the sleeping car equipment of these trains should not be made up of one car each from the northern lines. The new trains must run at least one sleeper. In that case the plan proposed would make no more than two extra sleepers. At the rate of 2 cents a mile, which would be paid by the Pullman Company, each car would cost less than $11 for the round trip from either Louisville or Cincinnati to Atlanta. Take now the absurd proposition that there is but one passenger in each sleeper, each way. In that case the cars would be run at a profit. Reduced to the absurdity that there are no passengers, the only objection to changing cars if he were the only passenger and he could get equal good accommodations in the Pullman car."

A WONDERFUL INVENTION.

It Is On Exhibition at the Exposition in Electric Building.

There are many displays of athletic goods at the exposition of more than passing interest, but by far the most unique of anything that has been shown is the little machine for exercising the muscles and at the same time applying an electric current with various degrees of intensity. It is to be found in the electric building and has attracted a large and interested crowd of both sexes around it. Now that the new man has taken up the matter of physical development, she is acquainting herself intelligently about all appliances that will help her in her efforts to become a "well-rounded man." The application of electricity in connection with an exercising machine is a new one, though it is not new in the sense that it has long been known and its value as such recognized by physicians. The value of this machine, which is called the "Electric Exercising Machine," because it is the only one on the market, lies in the fact that it not only exercises simply as an exercising machine or as an electric machine, but as both combined and at the will of the operator. It is a simple device, but it is one of the uses that any of the exercising machines can, being used by the athlete to develop the muscles in the upper part of the body, being used as a rowing machine in a sitting posture, and also being used for the development of the muscles of the legs by application to the feet.

WITH THE RAILWAYS

Meeting of the Executive Committee of the Association Yesterday.

COTTON APPORTIONMENT IS UP

The Crop This Fall Will Probably Be Divided Among the Lines—Other Railroad News.

The meeting of the executive committee of the Southern States Freight Association has brought a great number of prominent railroaders to the city.

The directors of the Aragon, which is headquarters, were thronged with them yesterday. There were present at the meeting: W. W. Finley, representing the Southern railway and the Alabama Great Southern; R. G. Erwin, representing the Alabama Midland, the Brunswick and Western, the Charleston and Savannah, and the Savannah, Jacksonville and Western; R. E. Lutz, representing the Atlanta and West Point and the Western Railway of Alabama; W. P. Shellman, representing the Georgia Central and the Savannah and Western; M. H. Clyde, representing the Clyde Steamship Company; S. P. Parrott, representing the Columbus Railway Company; Charles P. Ball, representing the East and West railroad; D. E. Maxwell, representing the Florida Central and Peninsular railroad; T. K. Scott and A. E. Jackson, representing the Georgia railroad; C. W. Chears, for the Georgia Midland and Gulf; Milton H. Smith, for the Norfolk and Western; J. H. Glover, for the Seaboard Air-Line; G. W. Stone, for the Georgia Southern and Florida; J. W. Thomas, for the Western and Atlantic; T. M. Emerson, for the Wilmington and Weldon, which is a part of the Atlantic Coast Line; and J. H. Glover, for the Norfolk and Western.

Thus it may be seen that all the roads that are members of the new association are represented at the meeting except the Old Dominion Steamship Company, the Merchants' and Miners' Transportation Company, the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific, and the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley railroad.

This is the second session of the executive committee of the new association, the first having been held in New York immediately after the meeting of the Southern Railway and Steamship Association, when the business of the old association was straightened out and the affairs turned over to the new regime.

The association is now known as the Southern States Freight Association. The new committee is headed by Mr. Haines, who has already put the matter of the new association in good order for such as the members may deem proper to make, and it is clear that the railroad meeting will begin the career of their new organization with vigorous hope for the fullest fruition of their plans which required so long to bring to this point.

Commissioner Haines is one of the most interesting men in the railroad business at the south. He has been in the work all his life, having been a clerk, a freight agent and a promoter of the various lines of the Plant system when they were first planned. Since that time he has been steadily growing in his business and now he is one of the most thoroughly posted men on southern railroad affairs to be found in the land.

The Cotton Apportionment.

One of the most important questions which the members of the executive committee will have to wrestle is the cotton apportionment for the season.

It will be remembered that for the past few years the railroads have agreed on a plan of transporting the cotton crop by apportionment, meaning that each line would be assigned a certain percentage of the crop to haul as its share for the season. This percentage is based upon the average amount of cotton raised in each particular line for the past two or three years, and when once fixed the railroad has no right to go beyond its limit. When over a railroad has an increased crop, it is the right of the other lines to get out of the crop the commissioner under the apportionment plan is empowered with authority to haul the cotton to the market and the traffic department of the road and insist that they hold up awhile until the accounts of the other roads catch up, so to speak, with it.

It is probable that the same kind of an apportionment plan has been engaged for the past few years to obtain at this meeting. The members were discussing it yesterday.

There are other matters of importance, too, which will come up at this meeting.

MR. PLANT WILL LEAVE TONIGHT

The Railroad Magnate Has Enjoyed His Visit to Atlanta Very Much.

Mr. H. B. Plant and party will leave Atlanta tonight in Mr. Plant's private car.

They will go to Newport News.

Mr. Plant has enjoyed his visit to Atlanta in the extreme sense of the term, and is delighted with the great exposition. He says he expects it would be a high grand affair as it is and declares that it seems that there is nothing in the world to do which the city puts its mind to the task.

He has been highly honored during his visit here and he has due appreciation for all the kindnesses that have been shown him. He says he expects to be in the city of his visit to the Gate City of the South as long as he lives.

A MUSICAL INTERPRETER.

Mr. Edwin M. Sharnet and His Masterly Genius.

The playing of Mr. Edwin M. Sharnet in the grand concert Sunday afternoon at the Grand opera house was the feature of the occasion. Mr. Sharnet is a versatile genius and thoroughly knows how to interpret the highest class of music. His development of the piano is a masterpiece of technique, and he played with an clearness and delicacy that was marvellous.

He has a touch that in its strength and sweetness recalls the hand of steel in the glove of velvet. He forcibly impressed the vasty variety of the music upon the audience and the gradation of light and shade were delicately worked out. The impression on the people of this city and when he comes again he is sure of a full and appreciative house.
